Brethertons Announce Record Number of New Recruits

As part of its planned expansion, Brethertons has announced the appointment of 7 new dedicated professionals who have joined the Property Management, Marketing and IT Departments.

Debbie White, Nikki Beckinsale, Lyndsay Peters, Joanne Lawson and Edward Carlton all join as Property Management Assistants. Claire Thompson joins as Senior Marketing Executive and Shahed Miah joins as IT Assistant.

Whilst many businesses are looking to cut costs and reduce expenditure, Brethertons recognise that getting through economic downturns includes investing in people and business where appropriate.

According to Deborah Atkins, HR Manager at Brethertons: "In times of economic downturn we endeavour to create internal opportunities where possible and are currently retraining several staff. In addition, we have made a number of new appointments as a direct result of a recent 'open evening' where over 30 interested applicants attended. The jobs which we were seeking to fill related to new positions within the firm - due to an increased workload from new and existing clients in one niche area of law practice - Debt Recovery within the Property Management Industry, as well as IT and Marketing - no less than 7 new people have joined Brethertons this month alone."
